NEMISA ENDORSEMENT LETTER

To whom it may concern

NEMISA is an entity of the Department of Communications and Digital Technologies and is tasked with the mandate to deliver digital literacy and specialist ICT skills training for South Africa by training youth, women, people with disabilities and Small and Medium Enterprises (SMEs), for them to play a meaningful role in the digital economy. NEMISA's intent is therefore to deliver training that impacts the beneficiaries and thus enabling them to have increased chances of employability or productive entrepreneurship.

In partnership with Baobab Blouberg Group as a the appointed partner to NEMISA, a collaboration has been formed to deliver digital skills targeting SMME's at various provinces in South Africa.

The value that the partnership will bring is upskilling the beneficiaries to improve their skills for the purpose of taking advantage of the economic opportunities presented by the fast-changing digital landscape in the country and globally. The training will consist of blended, online or face to face learning programmes.

Please afford the partner the necessary support towards the successful implementation of this project and NEMISA may be contacted on info@nemisa.co.za should additional information be required.

Yours Faithfully
